Tenemos siete cuerpos: el físico, el etéreo, el astral, el mental, el espiritual, el cósmico y el nirvánico. Cada cuerpo tiene sus propios tipos de sueño. El cuerpo físico se conoce en la psicología occidental como la consciencia, el cuerpo etéreo como el inconsciente, y el cuerpo astral como el inconsciente colectivo. Sonar no es simplemente sonar, es algo relevante, importante. No puedes sonar sin causa alguna, incluso los sueños tienen causalidad. Son significativos, revelan algo de ti. De hecho, revelan mucho más de ti que cualquier cosa que hagas mientras estes despierto. OSHO es un místico contemporáneo cuya vida y enseñanzas han influenciado a millones de personas de todas las edades y culturas. Ha sido descrito por el Sunday Times de Londres como ""uno de los 1.000 constructores del siglo XX"" y por el Sunday Mid-Day de la India como una de las diez personas, junto con Gandhi, Nehru y Buda, que cambiaron el destino de la India. A principios de los años setenta captó la atención de la juventud que deseaba experimentar la meditación y la transformación. Hoy, más de una década después de su muerte, la influencia de sus enseñanzas continúa expandiéndose en prácticamente todos los países del mundo. El Resort de Meditación Osho Internacional, situado en Puna, India, ofrece una variedad de programas para los miles de personas que lo visitan cada año provenientes de más de cien países. / We have seven bodies: the physical, the etheric, astral, mental, spiritual, cosmic and nirvanic. Each body has its own type of dreams. The physical body is known in Western psychology as consciousness, the etheric body as the unconscious, the astral body as the collective unconscious. Dreaming is not just dreaming, it is something relevant, important. You can not dream without a cause, even dreams have causality. They are meaningful, they reveal something about you. In fact, they reveal much more about you than anything you do while you're awake.
