Love Is All You Need: The Art and Science of Non-Training Your Dog Jennifer Arnold

From the New York Times bestselling author of Through a Dog's Eyes—the inspiration for the PBS documentary—comes a paradigm-shifting bond-based approach to strengthening our connection with our four-legged best friends. Dogs are social geniuses, second only to humans in their ability to read and understand emotion. Jennifer Arnold understands this better than anyone, and she believes that obedience training and commands such as “sit,” “stay,” and “heel” are unnecessary and counterproductive; they’re actually the root of anxiety and behavior problems in our dogs. Instead, her “teach don’t train” philosophy, based on the latest in canine neuroscience, leaves outdated reward and punishment methods behind in favor of a model that will revolutionize your relationship with your dog.
